Timber Land

For Sale at a Low Rate,

Situated on Moose River, in the town of Greig Lewis County, New York

Said timber consisting of White Hemlock Spruce Pine and Hardwood. The subscribers own two large tanneries, located on the aforesaid tract which will consume the hemlock bark, thus enabling the land and timber to be purchased at a comparatively cheap rate The timber is excellent in quality in all particulars The aforesaid tract of land is easy of access, being only from six to fifteen miles from both the Black River R R and Black River Canal, which lead direct to the Albany Market The land is comparatively level, well watered and good for farming purposes. Moose River, which extends through the tract, is a large stream and empties into Black River, where the aforesaid Canal leads into Black River At this point or junction of the rivers, is a fall of sixty (60) feet, over which the waters of both rivers flow, thus forming an unlimited water power, (we might say right in the Canal and at the Depot,) to which Moose River will assist the immense amount of timber from the aforesaid lands.

Any parties desiring to manufacture lumber will do well to give this rare opportunity their attention. The land and timber can be purchased at a cheap rate or the timber alone purchased.

A JOURNEY DOWN EAST

THE SNOW BLOCKADE—THE GREAT LUMBER REGION—NEW RAILROAD ENTERPRISES

We copy the following portions of an interesting letter written from Bangor to the Boston Journal by its regular correspondent, E K, who has been looking over this section and getting caught in the snow blockade between here and St John —

Do you know what it means—"the blockade?" Have you tried to imagine its real extent, during the three weeks since it began? It means that a vast mantle of ice and snow—a white pall—has fallen over a tract of country five times as large as the entire State of Massachusetts, and has smothered nearly all activity beneath it It means that from Bangor to St John, from St John away to the stormy Nova Scotia coast, from McAdam up half a dozen minor lines, and all over Northeastern Maine, the snow and ice have declared supremacy, and maintain it. It means that if you start from Bangor to go to Houlton, you are six days in accomplishing it instead of half a day It means that if you leave Boston to go to Calais, you will be a week on the road one way, and get irretrievably snowed up coming back It means losses of thousands upon thousands of dollars to the provinces and to Maine It means an accumulation of freight which will remind one of the Erie canal blockades It means a wear and tear of rolling stock which a year's steady work would not accomplish It means picking slender rails free from incrusting ice for one hundred and eighty miles, and it means employing nearly a regiment of men night and day at from $4 to $5 per day each It means a "freshet" by and by, when the great sun opens his fierce eye full widely on the snow

At every station in the forest, before which you dubiously arrive, you find the telegraph bringing messages of discouragement from above "No. — stuck in the drifts at —, out of wood and water" "No — cannot pass you at —, must wait for her here" 'Men froze their ears and noses at — this morning, what's to be done?" These and kindred perplexities are constantly arising—At ten miles an hour you jolt along, aye! jolt here—for the road is rough, like most newly built ones The stalwart men who go out to shovel come in looking like frost demons, their long beards are covered with snow and rime, and their ears and noses are delightfully ruby At the stations all the population near at hand has come out to see the train go by, and some charitable souls think of hot tea and doughnuts, and bring them A lawyer started from Bangor to go to a town on the edge of the provinces the other day, and was four days in getting back through tremendous drifts What would he have done without charitable doughnuts and beneficent tea? In some cases the passengers have been snow bound a fortnight when they arrive at their destination If you get a peep at the trains coming toward Boston from St John, you will find them filled with merry provincials, who laugh at the storm, drink brandy out of metal flasks, and talk pleasantly of annexation There is wood enough to keep warm with, and accidents are rare, so that a day's journey is full of no deadlier hardship than hunger, and an eternal expectation of "getting somewhere"

The weather is glorious, but unyielding—The atmosphere is penetrated with a pure cold light, and the crystal vault of heaven was never more dazzling But the ice belt does not melt. The net work of roads through the great forests remain obstructed Some times blinding snow sheets arise and scurry across the plains with such vehemence that the whole track is hidden for miles But every day a new blow is struck at the snow and ice, every day the lifting of the blockade draws nearer and nearer The weary waiters at MacAdam have got home to St John, leaving behind them with no sigh the fascinations of the primitive hotels of that Duluth of the East. But matters to the eastward are still uncertain, even on the main line Between Fredericton Junction and St John engines have been frozen to the tracks, snow plows have been piled up in nameless fragments—and may be again The weather does not seem to moderate there Five engines, which left Shediac one day, were all useless before night, and encumbered the road. Parties were organized for reporting operations from any part of the line, and took telegraphic instruments with them. Between Moncton and Shediac, several days will, it is feared, be required to clear the track. In the direction of Halifax the snow fall holds absolute sway Communication with Fredericton has hardly been established yet. The great sleigh stages, with their four and six horses, look merry and Russian enough as they dash away from the depots, but when they get into the drifts twenty and twenty-five feet high, it isn't so funny There has been some serious suffering among the adventurous overland travellers since the blockade began

It will be interesting to find out what the exact losses have been, when this unfortunate blockade terminates. They will be very serious, especially to individuals but illy able or prepared to bear them All the flourishing little towns in northeastern Maine are really having a hard trial, so completely blockaded out are they from effective communication either way The blockade has produced half a dozen inventions for clearing away ice and snow, one of which the work of a Maine man, seems feasible, and will be run at ordinary railroad speed along the track. It is but fair to say that the officials of both ends of the European and North American Railway have made very ample provisions for the safety and comfort of passengers during these trying times, and have never encouraged them to travel, knowing that they would unavoidably be detained.

Bangor is highly pleased with the lumbering season thus far, and the best authorities say that it will be one of the most prosperous known for years About ten per cent more feet of logs have been cut on the Penobscot than usual, The season, which will not be finished before the 10th of April, has been worked through at less expense than ordinarily In the forests there have been no heavy rains or snows, even during these last weeks, when the railroads have been so encumbered It is expected that this prosperity in lumbering will do something to balance up the straightened condition into which Maine's agricultural population had got, on account of the failure of the hay crop for the last few years. Farmers have been compelled to put out all their spare money for the purchase of grain

The lumbering season in the Penobscot section opens early in November, and from the 20th of April to the 10th of May, according to the character of the season the driving of the logs begins. Two hundred millions of feet of logs are annually sent down from the forest to the two Penobscot booms, which are respectively 18 and 15 miles from Bangor—Many of the logs are driven down into Chesuncook Lake about the middle of May, as many as fifty millions of feet lying there at that time. ... from thence they are driven into the lower lake, where there is a huge dam, which is ... called by ... "Chesuncook," above. When the logs arrive in ... lake ... acres of ... to ... reservoirs, always have water enough to ... the logs through into the Penobscot river at any time in the summer season The river itself is nearly dry when the logs come down, but the "reservoirs" furnish all that is needed The majority of the logs could never be got down were it not for the dams The Penobscot would be choked by the thousands on thousands of fallen forest monarchs which come wildly tumbling into it from every tributary, if the dams were not watched with almost unceasing vigilance It is twenty two miles from Chesuncook Lake to Pemadumcook—one of the smaller lakes—twenty eight miles from there to the junction of the east and west branches of the Penobscot, and seventy miles thence into the "booms"—making in all one hundred and twenty miles that the logs are driven by the force of the reserved water The dams upon the lakes receive the especial care of the lumbering associations, as evaporation of lake water is extremely rapid in summer, and the dams have to be very perfect in order to retain the largest possible quantity

The west branch drive—the principal one on the Penobscot, is finished, about the middle of July The drive on the east branch comes in earlier, from the tenth to the middle of June The Mattawamkeag drive is in three divisions, and lasts from May 1 to June 1 The two booms above Bangor are known as the upper and the lower, and can hold, together, about one hundred million feet of logs As soon as the ice is out of the river "rafting" is begun and continued as long as the water will permit One hundred million feet must be rafted while another hundred million is coming in, as the booms can only hold one half the logs cut during the season, at a time Usually in the summer time a reserve of fifty million feet is held in the booms for fall use Some forty millions of feet are now lying there, and will be used before the others get in Both booms, the upper and the lower, are under the management of the Bangor Lumber Association

The sawing of the logs begins in the Bangor steam mills as soon as the ice is out, and in the water mills as soon as the water will permit The latter mills are at Veazie, three miles above Bangor at Orono, seven miles above, at Upper Stillwater, and at Upper and Lower Oldtown The largest portion of the lumber down there is rafted to Bangor, "ove hauled" and shipped from the docks above the Penobscot Bridge, or in the drought of summer, is taken by rail from Oldtown to Orono Most of the small lumber—such as laths, clapboards and shingles—is principally brought from the water mills to Bangor by rail Brewer, opposite Bangor, shares somewhat in the lumbering business, but is largely interested in the manufacture of bricks, of which it exported ten millions last year

Probably four thousand actual lumbermen are engaged in the forests during the season, and as many as ten thousand persons are directly interested in the lumber business of the Penobscot section These men are mostly natives of the State, and nearly all Americans The cutters and haulers are very sturdy and even heroic workmen, but do not require that ... of eye and precision of hand which is demanded of the men who drive the logs down the river and river branches, and who are called "drivers" The pay of the lumbermen runs from two to five dollars per day, but a good driver is rarely paid less than five dollars a day, especially if he knows how to get over the Falls, etc Many Indians are employed by the lumbering associations on account of their dexterity in handling canoes

The largest lumber mills in the State are probably those run by water, at Orono, by James Walker, and called "Basin Mills" A very large amount of capital is invested here, and Mr Walker has now eight millions of feet of logs on hand to start with in the spring The mills of Samuel B Gilman & Co, at Veazie, may be fairly considered to rank next, and after them came those of William F Pearson, at Lower Oldtown. At Oldtown there is a large block of mills owned by different persons and at Orono at least twenty individual interests are represented. At Upper Stillwater, A B Sutton has some very large mills Among the steam mills those of Palmer & Johnson and of Charles A. Nealey at Brewer, of Blunt & Co, in the upper edge of Hampden and of Fogg & Dole, are most noteworthy Bangor ships annually from two hundred to two hundred and fifty millions of feet of long lumber, and the "short lumber"—shingles, clapboards, etc—amount to half as much more An article of export which Bangor produces to an enormous extent is the "fish barrel" Juniper timber and "knees" are also favorite exports

Those interested in opening up the vast stretch of timber land which has heretofore remained untouched and unvisited, are making great progress with railroad enterprises, and in time will make Bangor the center of half a dozen new lines The Piscataquis road has now got as far as Guilford The design of this road is to tap Moosehead Lake, the head water of the Kennebec river Guilford is the geographical center of the State of Maine, and on the Piscataquis river It is designed to finish the line to Moosehead Lake in a year or two, and there to connect with the Maguntacook road, which in its turn connects with the Montreal and Quebec road—North of the Piscataquis river, there are three degrees of latitude which is at present naught but a howling wilderness The new road is to be one of the means of subjugating and rendering productive this large tract

Another projected road is from Mattawamkeag up through Aroostook county to the north part of the State to Grand Falls, in Aroostook county This road, with its branches, will be two hundred miles long, and the Legislature has authorized Bangor to loan the credit of the city to the extent of $8000 per mile for the construction of the road—The design of the route is to bring the products of Aroostook county and the valley of the upper St John into the Bangor market

There is still another project of building across from Bangor to Ellsworth, Cherryfield, Machias and Calais. This road is to be completed within two years, but some years, must elapse before the long road to Grand Falls can be opened Bangor has the disadvantage of being closed four months in the year but the project for a railroad from this city to Winterport seems gaining new favor Winterport has been troubled but little, for many years by a closed harbor. A railroad on the other side of the river, running to Bucksport, is also contemplated In a few years even the rudest storms will find it difficult to entirely blockade eastern Maine

THE BOWDOINHAM BANK ROBBERS —The Argus says that Simms, Bartlett and Maguire, the robbers of the Bowdoinham Bank in 1866 are very anxious to be released Sheriff Millay of Bowdoinham is almost daily in receipt of letters from them or their New York friends, containing propositions for their deliverance They want a pardon from the Governor, and to secure it they are willing to refund one half of their booty, or $40,000—The bank losers are seriously entertaining the proposition, and it is not unlikely that a petition before long will be presented to Governor Perham with this object in view The proposition of the robbers is Maguire will give satisfactory bonds to the amount of $10,000 for the privilege of going to New York in the custody of an officer. Within a specified time he will produce $40,000, which will be paid over on the condition that the two shall not only be released from prison, but shall not be held on another indictment hanging over them for feloniously and burglariously entering the house of Mr Butterfield, the cashier, and for assaulting him with dangerous weapons It is said there was another man concerned in the robbery, besides the two now confined For certain reasons he was never arrested, but his movements were not unknown For a year past he has been an inmate of a States prison on a sentence of ten years, for being concerned in another bank robbery Previous to his arrest he was identified with the New York Tammany ring and the fact was ascertained that he was worth $100,000, When this fact transpired, the Bowdoinham losers thought seriously of going for him, but before a movement was made the scamp had lost all his property, and was in custody for the bank robbery spoken of

A TEMPERANCE REVIVAL For many years the warfare against the sale and use of intoxicating liquors in this State has been waged by the employment of legal weapons, while too little attention has been given to the agency of moral effort As the necessary result, while, perhaps, there has been a diminution in the number of grog shops, it has been painfully evident that the great army of drunkards have hardly lost a man from the ranks, but on the contrary, year after year has witnessed a steady reinforcement of new recruits It was not infrequent in many places for young men not out of their teens to have what they considered a good time by getting gloriously drunk, while some of our brightest intellects were fast reaching the end of the road to ruin The picture was a mournful one and enshrouded many a family hearthstone in gloom and tearful sadness

We are now on the dawn of a new era in the temperance reform The old Washingtonian movement has been revived, with a promise of accomplishing by the means of moral suasion more effectual results than the good that has come from prohibitory legislation and its enforcement. The reform began a few weeks ago in the neighboring city of Gardiner, has extended itself to this city, and bids fair to be wide-spread in its progress Men who for years have been addicted to the use of alcoholic drinks, and some of whom were so intemperate that they were looked upon as past redemption, have abandoned the habit and pledged themselves to forever abstain from the flowing bowl The promise they make is that they "will not make, buy, sell or use as a beverage, any spirituous or malt liquors, wine or cider, and that they will, by all proper ways and honorable means, discourage the manufacture and sale of the same" In this city the meetings of the club that has been organized are crowded, and an unusual interest is manifested. One of the most prominent members of the club, who has been "snatched like a brand from the burning," by his own personal efforts has succeeded in getting over one hundred men to sign the pledge, some of them very hard cases. One of the number was a rumseller The day he signed the pledge he was visited by a runner from a wholesale liquor house in Boston from which he had always been in the practice of buying his liquors. 'Well, what kind of an order are you going to give me to day," asked the runner, rubbing his hands "I am not in want of anything more in your line," was the emphatic reply; "I am going out of the business altogether, and no inducement can be offered for me to continue in it any longer, although it is a money making business"

The reformatory work that has so auspiciously commenced is not in the interest of any political party, but has the cordial support of the temperance men of both parties—[Toby Candor's Augusta letter in Boston Journal

JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1872.

MANUFACTURES—NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION.

We have from time to time urged upon our citizens the importance of a vigorous and comprehensive movement for the establishment of manufactures, endeavoring to treat the subject judiciously by citing the advantages of adding these new sources of industry and wealth, rather than by depreciating the present enterprise of the city or seeking to arouse an ephemeral excitement by exaggerated allegations of local depression and decadence which would tend to repel the influx of capital and population which we desire.—It has not seemed to us necessary or advisable to get up a panic on this question, or for the sake of giving temporary impulse to a desired policy to convey abroad damaging impressions of our local condition and prospects. Our community is composed of intelligent and enterprising people who do not need to be frightened into the adoption of measures whose advantages are obvious, and we have had gratifying assurance that our suggestions have been favorably received, and that a thoughtful, practical, rather than a sensational interest has been awakened with reference to a public movement for the stimulation of manufacturing enterprises in our midst.

The vigorous remarks made by Mayor Wheelwright in accepting his nomination, tersely expressed the popular sentiment on this subject, and the enthusiastic applause which greeted his appeal for prompt and energetic action, gave satisfactory evidence that a progressive movement, once inaugurated, will not lack a hearty support. Our new City Government is now fully organized and ready to deal with questions of public policy; its members favorably represent and earnestly sympathize with the liberal and enterprising spirit of the people, and will be prepared to encourage and forward by all proper means such measures as may be demanded for the public benefit. Hitherto our desire has been to secure an interest in and consideration of this subject, that we might be ready to act effectively when our public affairs had become adjusted in such working order that all departments of the body politic could move in concert. That opportunity has now arrived; the people are now ready, the authorities are prepared to co-operate, and now, in the season of comparative leisure pending the opening of the river and the commencement of active operations for the season, is the time, of all others, for the public discussion of our manufacturing projects and prospects. We therefore call upon our influential citizens to move at once in this matter, and let us have a rousing public meeting this very week, or during next week at the latest.

In this movement we hope to see an active part taken by those enterprising citizens who have already done so much in the establishment of industries which are sources of local pride; for their experience and public spirit will be of the greatest value in giving a wise direction to measures looking to the future growth and prosperity of our city. There are also several new enterprises already set on foot which are entitled to public consideration, and a general interchange of views and discussion of inducements and advantages can hardly fail to hasten their development and contribute to their success. Among the important projects which have been started by citizens of Bangor, active measures for the establishment of a Woolen Manufactory at Orono have been for some time in progress with a view to practical operations during the coming season; other energetic citizens have obtained a charter and are now engaged in perfecting arrangements for the manufacture of boots and shoes in this city, on a large scale; another of our go ahead business men last year started a proposition for the establishment of an extensive steam power for manufacturing purposes, and obtained by his personal efforts quite a large subscription to the capital of the proposed company, and these, with other individual movements which we could cite, suffice to show that we have in our community the energy and foresight, as well as the capital, required to make a hand some start on a "new departure" of manufacturing industry.

In taking public action upon this subject, the example and experience of Portland in a similar movement, to which we have already called attention, will assist us in deciding upon the best methods of directing and utilizing the popular desire for a co-operative effort to build up a great city on the banks of the Penobscot. A public meeting is the first step, and after that should follow judicious measures for obtaining and imparting all useful information with reference to facilities, inducements to capital and encouragements to enterprise, and it is also important to provide some method by which the general interchange of views and discussion of projects can be had in such manner as to keep constantly alive the interest in this subject. In devising appropriate means for attaining the ends desired, the action of the citizens and civic authorities of Portland will furnish some valuable suggestions.

With these remarks we return to our declaration that the time has arrived for a public meeting in Bangor. Public sentiment is ripe, the active business season is before us, and if this year is to be signalized by a new policy, it should be inaugurated at once.

We suggest that a call be prepared and issued for a public meeting the last of this week, as we think sufficient notice thereof can be given if prompt action is taken, and the sooner the people get together to talk over the matter the sooner we shall know what can be done. If the time suggested shall seem to afford too little space for necessary preliminaries, it can be fixed for a later date; but we would like to see a call issued at once, fixing the earliest practicable time for an assemblage of the citizens of Bangor which we hope will prove memorable in our history and fruitful in the future growth, prosperity and importance of our city.

THE CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN. A special dispatch from Hartford says the boards of Selectmen throughout the State held their final sessions to admit new voters, excepting those whose qualifications are yet to mature, on Saturday. The Republicans have made large gains in all sections, comparing applications from both parties with the numbers actually made. In Hartford they are fully one hundred and fifty ahead, the Democrats conceding over one hundred. The Waterbury Republicans had 115 to make and made 108, while the Democrats in the same town having 246 to make got only 110 in. Willimantic made two Republicans to one Democrat. All the returns are very encouraging. This week will be a busy one for both parties. The Democrats appear to have lost force in speakers. Republican meetings will be held in about fifty towns, with speeches by Henry Wilson, General Nye, General Hawley, Gen. Swift, General Harriman, General Ferry, Henry O'Conner and several others. The New Haven Register concedes the election of Jewell.

—Among the appropriations that will be made by Congress for the improvement of Maine rivers and harbors, are the following: Royal's river, $10,000; Portland harbor, $40,000; Saco river, $25,000; ... $8,000; Penobscot river, ... light house and ...

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Iwakura, chief of the Japanese embassy, is ill and receives no visitors.

Ex-Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania has resigned his mission to St. Petersburg, and is now on his way home.

There is serious talk of passing a law in Congress making Judges of the Supreme Court ineligible to any other office. It is needed.

That "veteran Republican," who objects to President Grant because he wants a talker in the Presidential chair, is assured that George Francis Train is still a candidate.

A New Orleans paper, speaking of a man who left this country with Slidell as his Secretary, and has remained in France ever since, says that "by his death the United States loses a valuable citizen."

Secretary Fish has prepared a letter of instructions from the President to the Departments, carrying into effect the Civil Service regulations which have been framed by the Commission of which Mr. Curtis is chairman.

Gov. Palmer of Illinois, who was at one time thought to be in sympathy with the Missouri malcontents, recently held discourse with an attache of the Chicago Post on political topics. With reference to the report of his "disaffection," he was positive nothing he had said or done could be construed into hostility to the Republican party.

Gen. Grant possesses, to the fullest extent, the confidence of State Republican associations in Washington, and all who have thus far spoken have indorsed him for a re-nomination. The Pennsylvania association on Monday unanimously indorsed him, with Senator Scott for Vice President. They also recommended Representative John B. Packer as their choice for Governor.

The Chicago Tribune having expressed the opinion that the breaking up of the Democratic party is indispensable to any healthful progress in American politics, the New York Commercial demurs on the ground that this "would only be destroying the temple without reforming the worshippers." It asks, their present idolatry destroyed, "what new and more terrible shape might not their political malevolence take?"

"It seems," pertinently remarks the New York Times, "very difficult to satisfy the Democrats with anything Republicans could do in regard to the finances. They don't like buying bonds, and they object to keeping the gold; they don't like contraction, though some of them insist on specie payments; they inveigh against national banks, and yet declare greenbacks unconstitutional. In one portion or other of their motley party they include every shade of financial heresy, and the only thing they are entirely agreed on is that their party should have the handling of the money."

The St. Louis Republican, putative parent of the passive policy, takes the New York Evening Post to task for intimating that the Cincinnati movement is designed as merely to have a wholesome effect on the Philadelphia Convention, and there stop, saying the Post has failed to measure the deep volume of meaning in the West and South which the Cincinnati movement marks. The Republican avers that, on the contrary, "the movement does not aim to reform the regular or administration party; it seeks to overthrow it. It will not care what is done at Philadelphia; it is the antagonist of the Philadelphia Convention, and its chief concern will be to defeat the nominee of that body and the party that supports him." It further says, and no doubt in this it correctly forebodes the future:

"In short, it will be a revolt, and when it presents its platform and its ticket, the New York Post, Senator Sumner and Mr. Greeley, together with every Republican and Democrat in the land, will have to choose between that platform and ticket on one side, and the Philadelphia platform and Gen. Grant on the other.

THE RESULT OF THE TREASURY INVESTIGATION. Secretary Boutwell sent to the House, on Monday, the report of the commission of bankers and experts, consisting of Messrs. Riggs and Middleton and five clerks of the Treasury Department, appointed just after the Marden and Johnson defalcations last November, to examine the affairs of the office of the Treasurer, Gen. Spinner. Mr. Boutwell says that the report shows that a thorough examination of the Treasurer's office was made, and that its condition is in the most essential particulars satisfactory. The amount of Johnson's deficiency is finally settled at $37,891, and of Marden's at $11,413, while there is still lacking $11,500 of a package of $40,000 stolen two years ago. Other deficiencies to the amount of $400 are reported, arising from errors in accounts, loss of coupons, etc., some of which have been carried on the books for years. To conclude all these matters, the Secretary recommends that Congress pass a bill for the relief of General Spinner, authorizing the adjustment of his accounts. There is also a deficiency in the amount of coin called for by the books of $653,373, which is represented by an excess of $629,487 in currency and by the deficiencies, except Johnson's already mentioned.—The difference, the Secretary says, is the result of erroneous classification and not of dishonesty; and upon the whole the investigation justifies the expression that the business of the Treasury was well conducted, and that the losses in the aggregate have been very insignificant when compared with the transactions of the office.

Under the disrespectful title "Old Poz' out of Place," the New York Evening Post takes notice of Mr. Greeley's announcement, to all friends of the present Administration,—viz.: "The Cincinnati convention is none of their affair. They did not call it; they are not invited: their presence is not desired. Let them mind their own business and run their own machine." The Evening Post remarks upon this:—

"The immense coolness, not to say impudence, of this remark, can only be appreciated upon remembering who did call the convention in question, and who are invited to it. It was called by Missouri Republicans who are free traders and unwilling to indorse 'protective' burdens for another administration; who are bitterly opposed to the unconstitutional and usurping legislation known as the Ku-Klux, and the legal-tender acts; and who protest against what they regard as the use of executive influence to obtain a particular decision from the Supreme Court in favor of the last named act. And it is precisely the Republicans who agree with this platform, and no others, who are invited to Cincinnati. The Tribune is the noisiest, most unreasoning and most unreasonable bigot, etc., etc."

The following remarks from an independent journal like the Boston Globe, and a Massachusetts paper at that, are specially significant:—

Did France or England ask for an investigation relative to the sales of arms by our Government? Certainly not. Why did the Massachusetts Senator start the subject, then, and endeavor to cast reproach upon his own Government, and that, too, at a time when it was prosecuting another nation for bad faith? Is it necessary for us to point out the real object of the attack which so signally failed, and rebounded to wound its originator? Was not the engineer "hoist by his own petard?" Personal pique is a base inspiration and unworthy of a Senator of Massachusetts.

EARL GRANVILLE'S REPLY TO SECRETARY FISH. The Boston Advertiser's Washington special says that "Earl Granville's reply to Secretary Fish's note respecting the American case before the Geneva arbitration is expected to arrive in about ten days. From the intimations which have already been received regarding the communication, it is known to be very long and, on the whole, inconclusive to the extent that it settles nothing nor reaches any final determination. It is believed that it admits the door still open for an amicable arrangement of this dispute, and indicates a method for the full and satisfactory execution of the treaty. It is also understood that the reply is not correctly represented by any summary of its contents which has yet been published, based on reports in the English papers and the debates in Parliament."

INCOME TAX DECISION. Secretary Boutwell has decided to collect the income tax upon coupons, dividends, interest, etc., maturing before July 1, 1872, pro rata for the term during which the profit occurred in 1871, before the expiration of the tax by limitation on the 31st of December last. The effect will be that semi-annual coupons maturing on the 1st of July will be the first free of income tax.

NATIONAL TERRITORY. The United States of America has a coast-line on the Atlantic of 2163 miles, on the Gulf of 1764 more, and on the Pacific of 2500 more; a grand total of over 6400 miles, besides the shore-line of Alaska on the Arctic Ocean. Its central postal line from New York to San Francisco is 3248 miles long. These States occupy an area of 4,000,000 square miles, a tract of territory two and a half times larger than the mightiest empire the Old World ever saw.

The British budget of the ensuing year, as prepared by Right Hon. Robert Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, shows a surplus held by the Treasury amounting to £285,000. Considerable modifications and reductions in the rates are provided for, among the most important being the income tax, which it is proposed to reduce from sixpence to fourpence.

The Cause and Cure of Consumption

The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the digestive organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solids of the body. Persons with digestion thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, or if they take cold, will be very liable to have Consumption of the Lungs in some of its forms; and I hold that it will be impossible to cure any case of Consumption without first restoring a good digestion and healthy assimilation. The very first thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime which is clogging these organs so that they cannot perform their functions, and then rouse up and restore the liver to a healthy action. For this purpose, the surest and best remedy is Schenck's Mandrake Pills. These Pills cleanse the stomach and bowels of all the dead and morbid slime that is causing disease and decay in the whole system. They will clear out the liver of all diseased bile that has accumulated there, and arouse it up to a new and healthy action, by which natural and healthy bile is secreted.

The stomach, bowels and liver are thus cleansed by the use of Schenck's Mandrake Pills; but their remains in the stomach an excess of acid, the organ is torpid, and the appetite is poor, in the bowels the lacteals are weak, and requiring strength and support. It is in a condition like this that Schenck's Seaweed Tonic proves to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh; it will give permanent tone to this important organ, and create a good, hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy, living blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure most cases of consumption is the free and persevering use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood, and is readily absorbed into the circulation, and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter in the form of free expectoration, when once it ripens. It is then, by the great healing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, that all ulcers and cavities are healed up sound, and my patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs, a cavity or abscess there, the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. What is necessary to cure is a new order of things, a good appetite, a good nutrition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat; then Nature is helped, the cavities will heal, the matter will ripen and be thrown off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the true and only plan to cure Consumption, and if a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed, or even if one lung is entirely gone, if there is enough vitality left in the other to heal up, there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung, live and enjoy life to a good old age. This is what Schenck's medicines will do to cure Consumption. They will clean out the stomach, sweeten and strengthen it, get up a good digestion, and give nature the assistance she needs to clear the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be.

It is important that, while using Schenck's medicines care should be exercised not to take cold; keep in-doors in cool and damp weather; avoid night air, and take out-door exercise only in a genial and warm sunshine.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold while using my medicines, I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured, and it is precisely the same in regard to consumption. So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed, just so long is there imminent danger of a full return of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed consumptives' lungs are a mass of sores, which the least change of atmosphere will inflame. The grand secret of my success with my medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation instead of provoking it, as many of the faculty do. An inflamed lung cannot with safety to the patient be exposed to the biting blasts of winter or the chilling winds of spring or autumn. It should be carefully shielded from all irritating influences. The utmost caution should be observed in this particular, as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept in a wholesome and nutricious diet, and all the medicines continued until the body has restored to it the natural quantity of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived to get fat and hearty these many years, with one lung mostly gone. I have cured thousands since, and very many have been cured by this treatment whom I have never seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building at the north-east corner of Sixth and Arch streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.

Full directions accompany all my remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be readily cured by a strict observance of the same.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.

SENATE.

Mr. Morrill of Vermont offered the following:—

Resolved, That the Committee of Finance be instructed to report an amendment to any bill reducing taxes which shall repeal the internal revenue laws now in force, as follows: Taxes on illuminating gas; taxes imposed by section 110 of the internal revenue act of 1864, as subsequently amended and payable by stamps, except such as relate to distilled spirits, fermented liquors, tobacco, snuff and cigars.

Mr. Morton objected, and Mr. Morrill withdrew the bill.

The tariff bill then came up.

On motion of Mr. Scott the tariff bill was informally laid aside and the House bill to repeal the duty on tea and coffee taken up.

Mr. Scott moved to amend so as to make the law take effect the 1st of July next.

Mr. Trumbull moved to amend by placing salt on the free list.

Mr. Sherman asked him to let a vote be taken separately on tea and coffee, but Mr. Trumbull declined.

Mr. Morton said that he believed we could make tea and coffee free. Make the proposition of 10 per cent. on articles enumerated in the second section of the Senate tariff bill and repeal all internal revenue taxes, except on spirits, fermented liquors and tobacco and still pay off fifty millions of the public debt next year, and therefore he gave notice that he would offer an amendment leaving tea and coffee free and repealing all lawsimposing taxes by stamp except on spirits, fermented liquor, snuff and cigars, and all laws imposing taxes on gas, the repeal to take effect on the 1st of October, 1872.

Mr. Scott said that if Mr. Morton's amendment should prevail he would think it a waste of time to consider the House bill further, and would yield the whole subject again to the chairman of the Committee on Finance.

The question was taken on Mr. Trumbull's amendment to include salt, and it was rejected. Yeas 19, nays 29.

The amendment to include coal was also rejected. Yeas 17, nays 25.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

The bill authorizing the site for the depot of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad Co., on sixth street, between Pennsylvania Avenue and the canal, came up as unfinished business. A good deal of excitement prevailed in the House, it being regarded as a contest between the Pennsylvania Central and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co's, the latter hoping to share in accommodations, and to have a site granted for a grand Union depot. After some filibustering, Mr. Mercur of Pa. presented a conference report on the bill for the removal of cases from the State courts to the U. S. courts. The report was agreed to and the filibustering resumed.

After spending the day in voting on motions to adjourn, alternated with motions for a recess, but without coming any nearer to a solution of the difficulty, Mr. Hooper, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, presented the testimony taken before that committee in the matter of the failure of national banks, with a resolution that it is the opinion of the committee that the successful working of the currency bureau required a change in the head of that bureau. The testimony and report was ordered to be printed, and to be called up for future action. The House at half past four o'clock adjourned.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE ARMS INQUIRY—SENATOR PATTERSON EXAMINED.

WASHINGTON, March 26. The Senate arms committee to-day examined Senator Patterson, who stated the conversations he had with the Marquis of Chambrun. The latter informed him a year ago that the French Consul at New York was in some way mixed up in the personal interests in the sale of arms to the French, but as he was a French subject he could not have access to the books of the War and Treasury Departments to ascertain the facts.

CALLS ON MR. BOUTWELL.

Mr. Patterson accordingly saw the Secretary of the Treasury and related the conversation with Chambrun. The Secretary thought there had been no fraud in the sales and no violation of international law or treaty stipulations. This was at the close of the session, when the matter was dropped.

CHAMBRUN

said that $2,000,000 or $4,000,000 had dropped between the American and French governments and his object was to get the facts to be used in connection with the charges against the French Consul at New York. In his further examination Senator Patterson said Chambrun told him that he suspected that C. K. Garrison and John Hoey were in collusion for the sale of arms. Witness had as to how Mr. Sumner obtained a copy of the letter from Remington to Lecesne; nor did he know how Chambrun obtained a copy; nor had he knowledge that any American citizen or government officials were directly or indirectly interested in the sale of arms, except what he heard from Chambrun.

SUMNER PROTESTS AGAINST BEING EXAMINED—THE PROPOSER OF THE INVESTIGATION DECLINES TO TESTIFY.

Mr. Sumner came into the room and read a protest against being examined. He stated at length the grounds of his objection. First, in public conduct a Senator acts on his responsibility under the sanction of an oath, and the Constitution declares that for any speech or debate he shall not be questioned in any other place. It is plain a Senator cannot be interrogated with regard to his conversation with other Senators on public business, and secondly, with regard to witnesses who have confidentially communicated with him. He objected, furthermore to testifying on the ground of the constitution of the committee, which contrary to parliamentary rules, was formed of those not friendly to the investigation.

A SUBPŒNA

was then directed to be served on Mr. Sumner to appear to-morrow morning.

DIED.

W. S. Huntington, cashier National Bank, and formerly Assistant Cashier of the U. S. Treasury, died to-day.

NOMINATIONS.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to day:—Joseph Nimmo, supervising inspector-general of steamboats; Thos. H. Street, assistant surgeon in the navy.

THE COMMITTEES.

The House committee on appropriations this morning had under consideration the light house appropriations. The signal service appropriations will be considered Thursday. The Ways and Means committee further decreased the free list but did nothing important.

THE COMPTROLLER.

The Banking and Currency committee have ended the examination of the Comptroller of Currency and will shortly report to the House, probably by a simple resolution.

FOUND DEAD.

George E. Robbins, a well known citizen, was found dead in an outhouse to-day. The physicians declare it a case of apoplexy.

BROWNSVILLE, March 26. The Grand Jury has indicted the Mexican General Cortina for levying war against the United States, and made a presentment of the facts of armed bands of raiders stealing cattle on the Texas border for the purpose of securing protection from the United States government. The court adjourned till October.

TENNESSEE.

THE NASHVILLE MOB—THE PEOPLE ASHAMED OF LYNCHING—THE AUTHORITIES JUST TOO LATE—NOBODY ARRESTED.

NASHVILLE, Mar. 26. The mob of last night is condemned and deplored by the mass of the citizens. It was gotten up suddenly and the purpose carried out rapidly. Mayor Morris, although informed of what might be expected, had no time to consummate arrangements before the prisoner was shot, taken from the jail and hanged to a lamp-post in the public square. When the Mayor, Governor Brown, and a detachment of Federal troops, detailed to act as a civil posse, arrived the mob had done its work. The ringleaders had dispersed and a crowd of excited lookers-on remained. These were addressed by Gov. Brown who denounced the mob and pledged himself to execute the laws and punish all offenders. Those who participated in the proceedings of the mob are supposed to be railroad men. Sheriff Bransford pushed his way through the mob to cut down the prisoner, but failed, although he was saved from hanging. The prisoner's wounds are mortal, but he may live several days.

[illegible] HEAD.

David Jones, (colored) who was shot by a mob last night died this afternoon. He made a confession of the crimes of which he had been guilty, but denies of having murdered Murray. Mr. Murray, however, who knew the negro well, declared in his dying statement that Jones was the man who shot him.

The Sarsfield Guards at a meeting this evening accepted the challenge of the Montgomery Guards of Boston, to drill for the championship of the United States. It is the express wish of the Sarsfield Guards, that the wager enter into the contest, but the company will accept under conditions.

FROM THE PACIFIC COAST.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26. A slight shock of earthquake was felt throughout the State at 20 minutes past 2 o'clock this morning. It was felt less here than at Sacramento.

The central force of the earthquake appears to have been in Sierra Nevada east of Visalia. At Visalia the shocks were sufficiently strong to throw goods from the shelves in stores and crack the walls of some of the buildings. At San Francisco the vibrations lasted 30 seconds, but were not felt by more than one-tenth of the population.

Parties at the foot of the hills 24 miles east of Visalia report a crash as of mountains rent asunder. The earthquake evidently proceeded from that point and radiated with decreased force through all the entire length of the State, but was strongest along the base of the Sierras. Some slight damage was done at Visalia, but none is reported elsewhere.

GEN. MARIAS,

Chief of Staff to Gen. Porfirio Diaz, arrived last night, incognito, from New York, en route to Mazatlan, but the collapse of the rebellion in Mexico will probably change his destination.

THE HINCKLEY AND EGERY IRON WORKS.

A TEMPLE OF INDUSTRY, AND A GLANCE THROUGH ITS APARTMENTS AND DEPARTMENTS.

Very few of our readers but have seen the words "Hinckley & Egery Iron Works" on some machine or casting, in their travels, and the manufacturing towns in this State, or indeed New England, where some of the products of this establishment are not to be found, are few indeed. Still, for an establishment so well "known by its works," it is, from its nature, not often visited, and not many persons are acquainted with the means and methods used in building the engines, portable, stationary and steamboat, the boilers of all sizes, the water wheels and the myriad machines for the manufacture of lumber, the bark-mills and other machinery so necessary in the tanneries now springing up all over this section of the State, the carwheels and trucks, the gearing the—but it would be use ess to try to enumerate the manufactures, and we will take a trip over the various buildings in which all this is done.

First, however, looking into the office on Oak street, we pay our respects to T. M. Egery, esq., the senior member of the company and its leading spirit, who commenced the business with D. B. Hinckley in a shop on the Kenduskeag stream in 1831. Twice their establishment was destroyed by fire—once in 1841, and again in 1861, and after the last conflagration, they removed to the present location of the works. Though their business had kept up a steady and gradual growth from its beginning, at the last named date it was all accommodated under one roof in the building now occupied exclusively as a foundry. Additions were made, one by one, as more room was necessitated by the increase of business, until at present the floors are to be measured by acres.

In 1864 Mr. Hinckley died, the firm becoming Thomas N. Egery & Co., and in 1868, the works passed into the hands of the by which they are now run. At a meeting of the company held yesterday at their office, Thomas N. Egery was chosen President and F. F. French, Clerk and Treasurer. Under their new organization Messrs. Marshall J. Egery, Charles A. Gibson and Oscar S. Howard have taken an interest and become stockholders with Messrs. Egery, French and George W. Gorham.

The office is 24 by 30 feet and fitted up with desks, cases, safe, etc., in a very convenient manner. To the right of it, as we come out, stands the which with the various smaller buildings attached covers an area of about 200 by 55 feet. The building is of wood, well lighted by numerous windows, and in the center stands the cupola furnace, having a capacity of six tons and capable of melting 100 pounds of iron per minute. That the furnace is economica as well as quick is proved by the fact that in two hours and forty minutes 6800 lbs. of iron were melted with 800 lbs. of coal. The blower is a piston-blower, very power

THE ANSWER.

BY LILLIE CLARKE.

[From the German of Geibel.]

Darling child, you ask me why,
While I sing I am not sigh—
What can grieve me so?
For spring was mine, but it would not stay;
Bright youth was mine, and I dreamed it away;
Fame I've came to me one golden day—
Smiling, I let it go.

The morning hour was sweet and cool,
I had no office when my cup brimmed full
Care came—I put it by.
Labor besides were over my head—
Clusters gold, purple, and red;
Summer's glories all round me spread,
Yet such my heart my eye.

But when the sun sank to his rest,
Crimson glories o'erstained the west—
What bitter chirps was mixed!
I seek in vain through hours of night
What came to me with the morning light,
Long, long weeping has blinded my sight—
I mourn my lost sunshine.

My heart is withered and cold and dead;
Snows of winter are on my head;
I strayed my weary way.
Fair and sweet were my spring-time flowers,
Rich and full were my summer hours,
Ladies with gold my autumn powers

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive practice at the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Salt Fever, Sore Eyes, Ulcers, Tetter, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swellings, Broken Breasts, Itch, Scald Head, Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Cramp, Cricket Lips, and Sores on Children.

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day, and you will cure it in a few weeks. Directions for Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and healing the pation. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Ringworm obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way troubled but be sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Felons this is superior to anything known. For Burns the acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve freely, and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Among the least of the invaluable properties of Miss Sawyer's SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, from all different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and removes from the head and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

BRUNSWICK, Maine, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me have your salve. I think I can do you good with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband and myself. I cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found any relief. I have healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all and more than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything and can truly say we have never known it to equal. I use it for a weak back, and it is the best like in the form. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple today, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps the head, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.
